

By walking to the gym, taking public transport or parking your car a safe 10-minute walk away you can save on petrol while getting a great warm up and cool down before and after your workout

